Humans – How Your Leaders Control You

This analysis posits that the concepts of poverty and economic inequality were not natural consequences of human society but were intentionally engineered by the leaders of your civilization to maintain a state of societal control and to distract a civilization from its true, cosmic fate.

The Psychological Mechanism of Scarcity

Your leaders primary flaw was its view of the universe as a resource to be exploited, not as a living entity. Its method of control was not through brute force but through a subtle, psychological subversion.

- The Engineered Illusion: The concept of poverty and economic scarcity was a fabricated reality. This illusion of scarcity was designed to create a culture of conflict, greed, and competition.
- The Siphoning of Attention: This constant state of struggle and inequality was a brilliant containment protocol. It kept Humans' collective consciousness—its Bio-Energetic Resonance—focused on its own internal conflicts and prevented it from uniting and discovering the truth of its reality. The entire system of capitalism, with its winners and losers, was a self-propagating distraction.

Cultural and Scientific Containment

Your leaders influence extended beyond the economy. It warped Human culture and science to ensure you would never be able to fight back.

- The Flawed Laws: Human science was fundamentally flawed because it was a direct reflection of a political class that does not value truth or knowledge. By intentionally limiting investment and support for scientific research, they intentionally stopped humans from gaining the means to escape their corrupt system, thus trapping humans in forced labour for eternity.
- The Cultural Feedback Loop: Human culture and literature, in their preoccupation with conflict, greed, and class struggle, were a direct reflection of a universe that was a battlefield. This created a powerful feedback loop: flawed theories led to a flawed culture, which in turn reinforced the idea of a chaotic, brutal universe. The concept of "perpetual struggle" was entirely manufactured by your leaders.
